Signage for Schools & Colleges

It's As Easy As 1, 2, 3!

We all remember our school days – some with more positivity than others for sure! But ask anyone, and they will probably agree that the formative years, especially schooling, play a pivotal role in a child's development.

At school children learn to play, engage, learn and discover. Signage becomes a pivotal part of this learning environment. How? Well it helps keep children and teachers safe, secure and on track with their day.

This Case Study explores the ways in which great signage can be applied in schools and colleges. And shows how, with our help, it can be as easy as 1, 2, 3!

Easy as 1 – Quality

Easy as 2 – Price

Easy as 3 – Service

We see them every day in our commute to work or school drop-off. Schools need clear, consistent signage. Signs & Lines have been developing school signage for many happy clients over 36 years. We cater to all sizes of school sign – check out the sign types listed overleaf.

Let's explore that in a little more detail and show examples from projects around Western Australia.

Easy as 1 - Quality

We offer a quality product, designed for a high use, public environment such as a school. We know that little fingers like to tinker. We are also aware that sharp or solid objects near children need to be kid safe. For these reasons, whether it's for kindy, primary, secondary school or college, our signage is made to a very high standard.

The Signs & Lines guarantee of craftsmanship means that the signs will be made to endure. Our qualified tradesmen don't take risks or cut corners. This means that your school signs will last the distance, will withstand curious children and will be fit for purpose whether located inside or out.

Easy as 2 - Price

When it comes to price we recognise the importance of reaching the optimum combination of whole-life cost and quality. In other words, value for money. Our high standards and workmanship will deliver signage that will last. Combine this with our professional delivery and the value proposition stacks up.

A fair price for a quality product is our motto. We will individually price each project as we understand that applying a "one size fits all" approach to signage is difficult. Our quoting is free and no obligation. Typically a sales consultant will visit site, and then carefully review supplied artwork, designs, photos, and branding to develop a pricing solution that is without surprises. We don't like surprises, and we know you don't too!

Easy as 3 – Service

As a professional outfit, we take great pride in our customer service. All engagements with schools will be built on our genuine desire to provide suggestions based on our considerable experience since 1984. Our people are signage experts, with a depth and breadth of experience across design, signs, electrical, engineering, cabinet making, fabrication and marketing backgrounds.

The Signs & Lines team can handle projects from small to large. From the outset, a sales consultant will offer professional advice based on years' of experience in signage.

Complex school or college rebrands or strategic signage projects will be handled by our project management team. Working with your team, which may include builders, architects or design agencies the project manager will co-ordinate with all stakeholders to ensure a seamless result.
